Real FBI Nabs Phony Agent

A man who assertedly posed as a Federal agent and offered a young San Francisco woman a job escorting Nina Khrushchev around the United States was arrested by real Federal agents here yesterday.

William Joseph Burke, 46, an unemployed engineer living at the Embarcadero Y. M. C. A., was nabbed by FBI men at Post and Mason streets at 5 p. m.

The FBI said Burke met his victim some weeks ago and passed himself off as a member of the Central Intelligence Agency. He said he was in charge of security arrangements for the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, officers said; and offered the woman a job as Mrs. K's traveling companion.

He then put the bite on the woman for $20, ostensibly to make phone calls in furtherance of the job, according to the FBI.

When the "agent" disappeared, the job seeker went to the FBI.

Burke will be brought before the U. S. Commissioner here this morning on charges of impersonating a Federal employee.
